April 10 and 11

TEACH Alliance: Trans* Education, Activism, Community & Health Alliance

We are safer-sex educators, community outreach leaders and queer activists. Our goal is simple: to address problems in queer communities with humor and positivity. We feel that, too often, issues within our communities are presented in negative and dire ways, so we began leading workshops about topics such as queer leadership, safer-sex and gender presentation using humor and candor. We focus on addressing these topics in positive and affirming ways. Join TEACH Alliance for the following sessions.

April 10

3:30-5:00 pm, Student Union, Dining Rooms C&D

Education Access for Queer Students

From issues of bullying, to a lack of familial support, to a deficiency of role models queer students face many potential challenges in accessing higher education. This workshop is targeted toward faculty and administrators and focuses on how to make their classrooms and campus more accessible.

7 pm, Somsen Auditorium

Queer Safer-Sex

This is the sex education you probably didn't get in school. As queers, we have sex in a lot of different ways, and it's often impossible to find an informational pamphlet for the types of sexual activities in which we participate. We cover techniques for using dental dams effectively; post-operative safer-sex information for trans* folk; uses for internal and external condoms; tips on safely using, cleaning and lubricating toys; why you should have rubber gloves next to your bed...and much, much more!

April 11

9:30-11 am, Wabasha Hall, KEAP Center

Queer Activism/Alphabet Soup

Interested in activism, but not sure where to start? Have an organization or coalition that needs more people power behind it? Ever suffer from activist fatigue? This workshop covers tips for networking with other organizations, suggestions for avoiding burnout, strategies for promoting your cause or advertising for events, and ideas for inclusion of identities, expressions and sexualities that are often left out of the alphabet soup. Learn how to be an ally and advocate for intersex, trans*, genderqueer, polyamorous, and asexual individuals (among others), and learn how to make your group or organization more accessible.

Tuesday, April 15, 7 pm, Somsen

Best Sex Ever, with Laci Green

What makes for the best sex ever? Find out during this upbeat program hosted by Laci Green. Laci Green is a 24-year-old web personality, public speaker, and peer sex educator from San Francisco. She graduated with highest honors from UC Berkeley in 2011 and holds a certificate in rape and dating violence crisis counseling. In addition to her sex positive activism project called Sex Plus, she is an educator and consultant for Planned Parenthood, the Discovery Channel, and the ACLU.

Tuesday, April 22, Take Back the Night, hosted in partnership with the Women's Resource Center of Winona, 6 pm, SpeakOut, followed by a rally and march, Student Activity Center, Student Union

"Take Back the Night" raises awareness surrounding the issue of sexual violence in the community. There will be an informational session on abuse and prevention, and audience members will be invited to participate in the SpeakOut. Refreshments will follow.
